HLT52015 Diploma of Remedial Massage

This course has been developed to meet all current requirements from the following aspects;

- Vocation Education and Training (VET) requirements
- Professional Industry Association requirements
- Private Health fund provider requirements to offer rebates to clients

To meet all of these elements students must complete the whole course as designed and delivered. None of the course is optional; all required competencies must be met prior to successful graduation.

These requirements are subject to change, Q Academy may make changes to delivery as needed.

Q Academy works closely with the listed stakeholders to ensure all delivery requirements are current.

Clinic Requirements

A requirement of the training is that the student complete 200 hours of supervised clinical practice within a Q Academy facility under the supervision of a Q Academy assessor. This is not by choice of Q Academy, it is a requirement of the stakeholders listed above. Q Academy strongly values this time, as it builds a strong work foundation for graduates. Clinic operations are modelled on current industry standards, using the strictest benchmarks to ensure graduates are ready to work in any demanding clinic environments.

Mental preparation

In applying to undertake study it is important that potential students realise the demanding study requirements that must be met. The course will contain a lot of information and new concepts that will require study, revision and practice. Q Academy set specific classroom and home study requirements, however further study will be required outside the scheduled times. The specific requirements will change based on the schedule undertaken and the individuals own abilities or prior knowledge.

Physical demands

While committed to equal access, it is important that potential students realise the content taught within the course can be physically demanding. Q Academy recommends a suitable level of physical fitness, mobility and general health to ensure long lasting quality outcomes can be obtained.

If you have any doubts please ensure you discuss these with one of our knowledgeable team members so suitable assessment and advice can be given.
